TRINITY TRIBUNE

FROM THE PRINCIPAL

At Trinity College, we are not only interested in a student's academic ability, but their ability to be successful in life. We are passionate in developing their 'soft skills' in areas like resilience, working well with others, organisation, study techniques and communication skills.

These 'soft skills' are sometimes not explicitly taught in a school setting, but can be expected. For this reason, there are subjects in our high school timetable which specifically take the time to teach explicitly about how to do the things that schools expect, which sometimes are not explicitly taught.

These subjects are called Study Skills in Years 7 through 9, Year 10, Careers, and Year 11 and 12 External Examination Preparation.

This Thursday and Friday, students in years 9 through to 12 will hear a guest speaker from Elevate Education on these same topics.

We believe that while the content of these talks may not be revelatory to our students, they do provide another opportunity for our students to understand how to study well. These talks achieve that by our students hearing from university students or recent graduates who have firsthand experience.

In 2021, we received a lot of very positive feedback from our students about these talks.

We pray that these guest speaker talks not only develop our students holistically, but assist our students in achieving their academic best as well.

AQUATIC PRACTICES

A big thank you to Megan Whittingham and the Gladstone Fish Market for hosting our Year 12 Aquatic Practices class. Your support in helping students with their current study on "Food from the Sea" is greatly appreciated. Megan gave us a tour of the Fish Market and helped us understand the intricacies of our local seafood industry. We were then able to sample some of their fish fillets at East Shores.
